

OHIO COAL MINES "OPEN"

Men Idle Since April 1 Have First Opportunity

THEY MAY HAVE PLACES OFFERED

New Scale, However, Must Be Accepted by Them

Cleveland, O., Jan. 7.—Eastern Ohio coal operators at a meeting here yesterday decided to open their mines under the "open shop" plan. Striking miners who have been idle since April 1 will be given first opportunity to fill the jobs under the scale offered by the operators. If the miners refuse the offer of the operators it was said that their places in the mines might be filled with non-union men imported for that purpose. "The open shop" plan was decided upon and the operators adjourned. If the miners' union follows its announced intention of fighting every action through the courts, it was stated the operators will ask the courts to compel the miners to give bond covering the amount of rent due from miners for houses in the entire field while the litigation is pending. Based on the amount of back rent, operators say this would amount to approximately $1,000,000.

TO END OHIO COAL STRIKE

Government Intervenes to Effect Amicable Adjustment of Controversy

Washington, Jan. 7.—Federal intervention between the coal operators and miners of eastern Ohio, in the strike which has continued since April 1 last, without prospect of settlement, was ordered on Tuesday by Secretary of Labor Wilson. Daniel J. Keefe, labor expert and former commissioner general of immigration, and Hywel Davies, a coal operator and former mediator in the Colorado strike, were designated by the secretary to undertake an amicable adjustment of the controversy.

COPPER UP TO $625 PER TON IN GERMANY

Fair Price in America To-day Is $300 Per Ton—Increase Due to Short Supply

Geneva, Jan. 7.—Advices received here from Germany set forth that copper, owing to the great demand and the limited supply, is now selling in the empire for $625 a ton.

A fair price in the United States for copper would be $300 a ton.

BASEBALL OWNERS SUMMONED

Members of the National Commission Also Ordered to Appear Before Judge Landis

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Summonses were issued yesterday for owners of the 16 clubs in the National and American leagues and members of the national baseball commission to appear before Judge K. M. Landis of the United States district court here on Jan. 20, the date set for hearing of the injunction sought by the Federal league in its bill filed Tuesday, charging that organized baseball is operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The injunction asked seeks to restrain the 21 defendants named in the bill as constituting the "baseball trust" from tampering with players now under Federal league contract and from interfering in any manner with the operations of the league.

James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, in a statement yesterday, said the suit would wipe out the smaller cases now pending between the Federal and organized baseball, and determine, in one action, all differences existing between the rival leagues.

A KIDNEY MEDICINE WITH THOUSANDS OF FRIENDS

Several years ago I suffered from kidney and bladder trouble. I was completely run down in health and lost 25 pounds in weight. I suffered nearly all the time. I could not bear to ride in a buggy and could not walk over 100 yards without having to sit down. I could not eat hardly anything. I had several doctors working on me several years. They tried everything, and I did not gain in health. A Swamp-Root Almanac was left at my house, and after reading it I resolved to try your remedy. I obtained six bottles through the druggist and had taken five of them when I was entirely cured. Gained 20 pounds in weight in a few weeks and was a new man in every respect. I always keep Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root in the house, and recommend it to my friends, as I have not the slightest doubt of its ability to cure kidney trouble in its worst form.

Yours very truly,
T. J. CARLISLE.

MCCORMICK COMES BACK

Former Bull Moose Leader in Illinois Returns to the Party

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 7.—At the Republican caucus at the State House of representatives Tuesday night before the opening of the legislature, Medill McCormick, member of the Progressive national committee and a member of the House, and with H. S. Hicks, Rockford, the other Progressive in the lower House, announced their intention of voting with the Republicans during the session. "I am glad to get back to the party of my fathers," said Mr. McCormick. Mr. Hicks also spoke. When the Republican representatives gathered Representative Atwood introduced a resolution inviting the two Progressives to enter the caucus. A few minutes later McCormick's name was suggested as a Republican caucus candidate for the speakership.

OLEOMARGARINE SUIT FOR $9,015,029

United States Government Sues the Capital City Dairy Co. of Columbus, O.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Suit for $9,015,029 was filed in the United States district court here yesterday against the Capital City Dairy Co. That sum is alleged to be due the federal government as taxes on colored oleomargarine. Appointment of a receiver for the company also is asked.

CARRANZA WINS PUEBLA

After the Fiercest Fighting of All the Revolutions

Vera Cruz, Jan. 7.—Puebla, capital of the state of Puebla, which was evacuated a month ago by the troops of General Venustiano Carranza, was retaken Tuesday after a campaign which began with the capture of Tepeaca, a short distance to the southeast of Puebla, six days ago.

The fall of Puebla came after an engagement of six hours of what is described as having been the most furious bombardment to which any Mexican force has yet been subjected. General Alvaro Obregon, commanding the Carranza troops, worked into a position about the city Monday night with virtually all his forces, which are reported to have aggregated not less than 30,000 men. He had determined to make the battle as short as possible and threw nearly all his men into the action, beginning the fighting early in the morning.

After pounding the positions of the troops of Generals Villa and Zapata, whose strength is estimated to have been some 15,000 men with 92 cannon, the troops of General Obregon advanced under the fire of their artillery.

Tepeaca, Amozoc, and other small towns and villages to the east and southwest of Puebla have been taken since his departure and Obregon had made his headquarters division base at Apizaco, where the railroad from Puebla joins the main line of the Mexican railway. Tuesday night he moved his force southward and another force toward the west, cutting both railroads over which the Villa and Zapata forces might proceed toward Mexico City.

STANDARD FOR CHILD WELFARE

Proposition to Be Incorporated in Children's Charter

Washington, Jan. 7.—A children's charter, embracing all the accepted standards of child welfare, was proposed by Edward N. Chopper, secretary for the northern states of the National Child Labor committee, in an address before the National Child Labor conference here today, to remedy the confusion of activities in the several states. He said the National Child Labor committee proposed to draft such a comprehensive exposition of child welfare, not only setting forth model laws for the regulation of child labor, but the system of juvenile courts and all other phases of child welfare work.

"Nearly every state in the union has today on its statute books a great mass of legislation for the welfare of children," he said. "Some of it is archaic, some is extreme, much is lacking to make it coherent and comprehensive and a surprisingly large portion is involved in contradictions and conflicts with other provisions. A few years ago this condition was officially recognized in this country where the general assembly appointed a committee to codify the state's child welfare legislation. This marked the first step taken in this country toward the logical working out of child welfare legislation—an example which should be followed by other states."

READY TO UPSET VETO

The House and Senate Take Stand on Immigration

HEARINGS ON LITERACY PROVISION

Gallinger Moves to Amend the Ship Purchase Bill

Washington, Jan. 7.—With the opinion growing stronger daily that the president will veto the immigration bill, containing the literacy test, Chairman Burnett of the House Immigration committee, yesterday expressed the belief that the House could pass the bill over the veto if the president vetoes it. The House, it is looked on as a certainty that the Senate will pass the bill over the veto if the president vetoes it. The president, in response to appeals, will grant a hearing. The date is not yet fixed. President Taft, before vetoing the bill, also granted a hearing. The House will take up the bill to-day. Little delay in sending the measure to the president is expected. Negroes and organizations of negroes all over the country are sending to the White House and to Congress protests against the Reed amendment to exclude African negroes from immigration. The amendment, it is well known, was put in with the object of weakening the bill. Whether it will be removed by the House is uncertain. Chairman Burnett is against it as he deems it useless. Jane Addams has sent a protest to the White House on the literacy test. She will see the president Monday. Representatives J. A. Gallivan of Massachusetts, who blocked the sending of the immigration bill to conference Tuesday, was assured by President Wilson yesterday that a hearing on the bill would be given.

REPORT PENROSE TOO LIBERAL

Palmer Says Half-Million Dollars Was Spent in Behalf of Senators

Representatives Palmer and Ruple of Pennsylvania alleged before the Senate elections committee yesterday that more than a million dollars was spent on behalf of Senator Penrose in his recent successful campaign for re-election. The committee resumed consideration of the Norris resolution to direct an inquiry into senatorial campaign expenditures in Pennsylvania and Illinois. On request of Senator Oliver the committee deferred action until Mr. Penrose could be asked if he wishes to appear. "We were able to show the committee that more than a million dollars was expended and spent in behalf of Senator Penrose's candidacy," said Representative Palmer, who was the Democratic candidate for senator in Pennsylvania. "We charged that both Pennsylvania and federal laws were violated in the expenditure of vast sums on behalf of Senator Penrose," said Representative Ruple, "and proper returns of the expenditure have never been made."

HEARING ON PAIGE PATENT BILL

Measure Has Important Bearing on Conditions Relating to Dyestuffs

The House committee on patents will hold a meeting Wednesday, January 13, on the Paige patent bill. This bill, which affects dyestuffs, has the endorsement of Secretary Redfield and other administration officials. The state department has given Mr. Paige assurance that the passage of the bill at this time would not affect unfavorably our relations with foreign nations. The bill provides that no patent shall be granted to a citizen of a foreign country which does not grant a corresponding patent to a citizen of the United States; that a patent shall be granted only for the "process" of making the drug, medicine or dyestuff; and that any patent relating to the manufacture of specified articles shall be actually worked in this country.

AMEND SHIP PURCHASE BILL

Senator Gallinger Revives Old Plan Relating to Pay for Ocean Mail Service

Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire has offered as an amendment to the ship purchase measure the bill proposed by him several years ago, authorizing the postmaster general to pay for ocean mail service to South America, the Philippines, Japan, China and Australia at the rate of four dollars the outgoing mile for second class and two dollars a mile for third class vessels. It is said now that this simple measure been enacted when its passage was an strenuously urged, following the defeat of the general subsidy bill of the late Senator Frye, simple shipping facilities for carrying on trade with these countries would now be available.

GATES TAKES OATH; FLETCHER'S TALK FAIRLY BRISTLES

our courts, and police powers, and of our public health, and to a certain degree, of our schools, and state highways.

"On the other hand, I believe we will all agree that it would be most unfortunate to have our people entirely relieved of the active responsibilities of citizenship, with the exception of the election of the necessary officials. Such a condition, it seems to me, would destroy the greatest safeguard we have to our body politic—individual activity, responsibility and independence. Vermont has not gone far astray in this matter, and has wisely chosen a course between the two extremes. To emphasize this point by way of illustration, let me refer to our highway department—the department with which I am most familiar. For several years there has been an irresistible demand that the state assume more complete control of the construction and maintenance of our principal highways. This we have gradually done during the last eight years, making an advance at each session, not by taking over our state roads entirely and bonding the state for their construction as other states have done, but by retaining the town as the unit, recognizing the towns as partners, and aiding liberally such as will help themselves, thus encouraging individual effort and stimulating town pride, until every town in the state but two have taken advantage of the law at sometime since its passage. This plan is producing live, competent road men in every part of the state, and has developed a growing, healthy sentiment, which no doubt has resulted in a greater improvement for the money expended than would have been possible under complete state control.

"The tendency towards a larger degree of state control in this and in other departments brings forcibly to our attention the matter of state expense. This has steadily grown in volume during the past ten years, and has been given wide publicity. By some this increase is deemed too large from every standpoint; by others it is deemed none too large, if value is received.

"A careful perusal of the reports of the different state departments will reveal a growing, and many of them will need larger appropriations, if we permit their growth and meet the demands.

"Vermont is not backward in its views. Our people will not balk at expense that is necessary. They do not want to go without those things that build for a better citizenship, or for the state's best prosperity. We need not hesitate to build well for Vermont—as well as our finances will permit. But this fact confronts us in our deliberations—this year is about the turning point in our state financial situation, where increased expenditures from whatever cause will have to be met by a direct state tax. Rigid economy is absolutely essential to a favorable balance sheet. Every unnecessary expense should be cut out, and items of new expense to the state should be carefully scrutinized, even though their purpose is entirely laudable and desirable. I am reminded here of the phrase in our state constitution, which reads, 'And previous to any law being made to raise a tax, the purpose for which it is to be raised ought to appear evident to the legislature to be of more service to the community than the money would be if not collected.' This might well be our guide in making appropriations. I am quite confident that the good judgment of this body can be depended upon to handle this matter satisfactorily.

"The expense of our meeting here is heavy under the most favorable circumstances. This fact should not, however, deter us from the fullest deliberation over all important measures. Inadequate or ill-considered legislation might be productive of more harm to the state than increased expense.

"Let us endeavor to eliminate all unnecessary legislation, and undue delay of proper legislation. Let us claim credit for the number of bills we do not introduce, rather than the number we do introduce. In short, let this session, the first to be held under the change in our constitution, be conspicuous for the quality of its work completed in the shortest time consistent with thoroughness, and we will best serve the state, and our efforts are certain to be appreciated.

"I deem it unwise at this time to go into detail on the various subjects that will engross our attention, such as direct primary, workmen's compensation, the judiciary, education, agriculture, and such changes in our statutes as are necessary to conform to our changed constitution. Educational matters on account of their importance will demand our special attention, and in this connection, let me refer to the most liberal proposal which we have received from the Hon. Theodore N. Vail of Lyndonville, who offers the Lyndon Agricultural school and Speedwell farms, fully equipped, as a free gift to the state for educational purposes. Your favorable consideration of this offer is most earnestly recommended.

"I will be glad to communicate with you later as occasion may require, and in connection with all these matters I promise you my best efforts, and I shall need your kind consideration and assistance. I request you individually to give me at any time such views as you may wish to express on legislation of importance.

"I extend to you my hearty good wishes for the successful outcome of this session."

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt, which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much—also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days, and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Advt.

HONOR IN ROME FOR DEAD GARIBALDI

Survivors of Ancestor's Campaign Meet Body When it Reaches Italian Capital

Rome, Jan. 7.—News of the death of Chief Adjutant Constantine Garibaldi, a grandson of the famous Italian soldier, during a charge against the Germans in the Argonne, was received here yesterday at the same time that the body of Lieutenant Bruno Garibaldi, his brother, who was killed in the Argonne Dec. 30, was brought here by two of the five brothers who enlisted in the French army. The news stirred deeply the crowd which had gathered.

In the assemblage were the survivors of the Garibaldian campaign, clad in red shirts, as well as many veterans of other Italian wars and large representations of the English, French and Greek colonies in Rome.

The body of Bruno Garibaldi was laid in the hall of the railroad station and later was removed to a cemetery, accompanied by a long procession in which were the French ambassador, the Greek minister and the members of the municipal government.

The ceremonies were made the occasion of a demonstration in favor of England and France by the Garibaldi partisans.

The throng at the railroad station was moved deeply when Roma Garibaldi, a sister, arrived and embraced her brother, who wore French uniforms. She then threw herself upon the coffin.
